

CRIMINOLOGY AND CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Criminology and Criminal Justice

The fields of Criminology and Criminal Justice focus on the study of criminal behavior (crime) and society's response to it (crime control), as well as questions of justice, fairness, and the law.

These fields draw upon the insights of the social and behavioral sciences, the physical sciences, statistics, and the humanities to illuminate the issues of maintaining social order in a constitutional democracy committed to individual freedom, equality, and justice. The criminal justice system is composed of the police agencies, prosecutors, the legal profession, the courts, and correctional agencies, among others. It is part of a larger social system that influences the effectiveness and fairness of criminal justice, as well as justice broadly understood. Courses analyze system responses to changes in social structure and cultural values, and the reciprocal relationship between social values and the judicial system. UM-Dearborn's Criminology and Criminal Justice program prepares students for careers in community organizing, social justice, and advocacy; courts, corrections, criminal justice administration, law enforcement; law school and paralegal professions; public administration and policy analysis; security; and related graduate studies.

Accelerated Program: 4+1

The 4+1 accelerated program option allows current UM-Dearborn undergraduates majoring in Criminology and Criminal Justice or Sociology to complete a Bachelor of Arts in their major field and the Master of Science in Criminology and Criminal Justice in a format that offers substantial savings in both time and money. This is achieved by a double-counting allowance of up to 16 credits worth of graduate level (500-level or above) courses. One additional year of graduate work (15-16 credits) is needed to complete the Master's program, enabling students to earn two degrees in a total of five years.

Participation in the 4+1 program is limited to students who have completed at least 60 credit hours with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or better. Admission to the 4+1 program is at the discretion of the Graduate Program Director and requires an admission interview. The "regular" online graduate application should be completed with a "Yes" response to the 4+1 accelerated program question. Supplemental application materials required for 4+1 applicants include: official academic transcripts, a personal statement describing academic and career goals, a resume, and one recommendation letter—preferably from a Program faculty member.

Students in the 4+1 Program must adhere to UM-Dearborn's Graduate Academic Policies, found here (<https://catalog.umd.umich.edu/academic-policies-graduate/>), with respect to all 500-level courses taken; this includes maintaining a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 (B) or better in their coursework in order to remain in good standing. Failure to do so may result in removal from the 4+1 program.

Courses to choose from in the 4+1 Program are: CRJ 501, CRJ 509, CRJ 515, CRJ 517, CRJ 518, CRJ 519, CRJ 532, CRJ 535, CRJ 546, CRJ 547, CRJ 553, CRJ 560, CRJ 565, CRJ 566, CRJ 568, CRJ 569, CRJ 570, CRJ 572, CRJ 573, CRJ 576, CRJ 580, CRJ 582, CRJ 583, CRJ 584, CRJ 587, CRJ 588, CRJ 590, CRJ 598, CRJ 699, COMP 500, PAPP 502, PAPP 505, PAPP 540, PAPP 561, PAPP 580, PAPP 581, PAPP 582, PAPP 583, SOC 510

Internship/Co-op Experience

Students are encouraged—but not required—to participate in an internship/co-op experience (CRJ 478), which fulfills the practicum requirement as outlined above. The CRJ internship provides supervised field experience in a variety of occupational agencies focusing on criminal justice and law enforcement. Each intern spends a minimum of 149 hours, or 8-10 hours per week, on site and attends a weekly seminar.

Notes:

1. Any one course may be used to satisfy only one requirement within the major.
2. A maximum of 61 hrs. of CRJ can count toward the 120 hrs. required for graduation.
3. A maximum of 8 hrs. of internship (CRJ 478) credit may count in the minimum 32 hours for the major.
4. At least 16 of the upper level credit hours in CRJ must be elected at UM-D.
5. Some upper level CRJ courses may require SOC 200 or SOC 201, or PSYC 101.

6. Only 6 credit hours of academic transfer credit will be accepted for completion of police academy training programs meeting the standards of the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement.

Total Credit Hours 16

- A minimum GPA of 2.0 is required for the minor/concentration. The GPA is based on all coursework required within the minor (excluding prerequisites).
- The use of transfer credit, field placements, internships, seminars, S/E graded courses, and independent study/research courses is limited to 3 credits in a 12 credit hour minor/concentration and 6 credits in a 15 credit hour and above minor/concentration.
- Courses within a minor/concentration cannot be taken as Pass/Fail (P/F).
- Minors requiring 12 credits may share one course with a major. Minors requiring 15 credits or more may share two courses with a major. This does not apply to concentrations for the Integrative Studies major.

Learning Goals

1. Knowledge of what motivates criminogenic behavior and Criminological Theory
2. Knowledge of formal and informal mechanisms of social control and Criminal Justice Theory
3. Knowledge of the function, organization, policies, and processes of the major components of the formal justice system
4. Knowledge of the law and the components of crime, including elements of felony and misdemeanor offenses, basic criminal law, and enforcement procedures
5. Knowledge of key historical, contemporary policy, and ethical issues pertaining to justice and enforcement in a democratic society
6. Knowledge of key research principles, "best practices" and government programs that have demonstrated effectiveness in reducing crime
7. Professional and persuasive communication, writing skills, and ability to report findings
8. Ability to locate, read, understand, and critically analyze publications and data to identify "what works" in criminal justice
9. Ability to make simple comparisons (before and after program implementations); compare two or three groups to identify differences using basic statistics
10. Ability to solve problems, create solutions, and procedures that are consistent with theory and research

CRJ 200 Intro to Criminal Justice 4 Credit Hours

This course provides an introduction to issues of crime and neighborhood disorder as well as society's responses to these problems. We will examine the nature and causes of crime, criminal law, constitutional safeguards, and the organization and operation of the criminal justice system including the police, courts, and corrections. The history of the criminal justice system, terminology and career opportunities will also be discussed. (F, W, S).

CRJ 300 Political Analysis 4 Credit Hours

Introduction to research design, data collection and analysis, sampling, and statistics for social scientists. (F, W).

Restriction(s):

CRJ 307 Forensic Anthropology 4 Credit Hours

Forensic anthropology has recently seen a lot of exposure through popular television shows like CSI and Bones. Have you ever wondered how much of what you were seeing was real? Do the dead really "talk" about their lives and how they died? This course is designed as an introductory course for students interested in demystifying and getting to know the real forensic anthropology. Forensic anthropology is a specialized sub-field of biological anthropology that applies many of the methods of biological anthropology to the discovery, excavation, and identification of human remains in a medico-legal context. In this class we learn about the human skeleton and explore the key methods that are used in the identification of individuals, such as age-at-death estimation, sex determination, stature, ancestry, and personal identification. We also deal with assessment of the different types of trauma, and whether or not we can tell the cause and manner of death. The broader ethical roles and responsibilities of forensic anthropologists are also discussed, including discussions of how we determine race/ancestry, as well as ethical responsibilities we have during the investigation of human rights abuses, disasters and criminal inquiries. (OC).

Restriction(s):

Can enroll if Class is Sophomore or Junior or Senior

CRJ 309 Introduction to Law & Society 3 Credit Hours

Law and Society is a field of study that examines the interaction between the legal system and society from the perspective of the social sciences and humanities. This course focuses on core components of the legal system including courts, lawmaking bodies, regulatory administration, alternative dispute resolution systems, and the legal profession. Throughout the course, students develop the ability to examine the legal system and its relationship to equality, social change, and public benefits using social science evidence. (YR)

CRJ 474 Cyber Crimes & Digital Evidence 4 Credit Hours

This course explores the worlds of cyber crime (e.g. child exploitation, predators, sexual/vice crimes, identity theft, etc.) and digital evidence. Students will examine the contours of cyber offending, as well as discuss legal issues and specific investigative and forensic processes related to technology. Students will also discuss cyber technology and predatory practices, practical and ethical considerations at the intersection of crime and technology, and new and emerging techniques of evidence collection. (YR).

CRJ 476 Inside Out Prison Exchange 4 Credit Hours

This community-based course, taught in a local correctional facility, brings university students and incarcerated students together to study as peers. Together students explore issues of crime and justice, drawing on one another to create a deeper understanding of how these issues affect our lives as individuals and as a society. The course creates a dynamic partnership between UMD and a correctional facility to allow students to question approaches to issues of crime and justice in order to build a safer and more just society for all. The course encourages outside (UMD) students to contextualize and to think deeply about what they have learned about crime and criminals and to help them pursue the work of creating a restorative criminal justice system; it challenges inside students to place their life experiences into larger social contexts and to rekindle their intellectual self-confidence and interest in further education. (F, W).

CRJ 478 Criminal Justice Internship 4 to 8 Credit Hours

Provides field experience in social welfare or criminal justice agencies, e.g., for children/adolescents, in residential programs, in abuse remediation, in probation, for chemical dependencies, in victim advocacy, for the elderly, in prisons, for special needs populations, in court services, in medical/public health, in police services, and for families and communities. Supervision by approved field instructors. An internship of 149 hours, or 8-10 hours per week, is required for four (4) credits. Instructor and student will work together to determine appropriate intern placement. Approval of instructor. (YR).

Prerequisite(s): CRJ 200

CRJ 480 Theories of Justice 4 Credit Hours

This course is designed to provide an introduction to basic moral philosophy and social justice, with particular focus on how these issues pertain to the field of criminal justice. It will explore various perspectives of "justice" through readings from classical and contemporary theorists. In addition, students will discuss topics related to political economy, culture and cross-cultural engagement, and critiques and advancements of justice. They will review the limits of the justice system and issues such as globalization, capitalism, and reform. Applied learning will be used to identify, articulate, and defend different ethical positions. Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 480 and CRJ 580. (AY).

CRJ 482 Legal & Ethical Argumentation 4 Credit Hours

This course will explore the ethical dilemmas faced by professionals in the legal system. We will pay particular attention to the criminal justice system and to the Rules of Professional Conduct for attorneys. Students read real legal cases and engage in thinking like attorneys to discuss questions like: How should an attorney consider their own ethical beliefs when deciding the appropriate course of action in a case? How should a judge consider their own ethical beliefs when making a juvenile justice decision? How should a police officer, investigator, or lawyer determine the ethical course of action when the law's instructions are ambiguous? Through practical "hands-on" learning, students will practice core skills in legal thinking, like writing briefs, examining the legal reasoning on both sides of a case, and understanding the strengths and weaknesses of each perspective in a case. Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 482 and CRJ 582. (YR).

CRJ 483 Justice, Crime and Environment 4 Credit Hours

This service-learning course focuses on environmental justice and law. Environmental Justice is defined as the fair treatment of all people with respect to the development, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws. In the classroom, students learn the theory, history, and enforcement of environmental laws and regulations in Detroit, Michigan, and nationwide. In a required civic engagement project, students apply their substantive knowledge to solve local environmental problems. Through classroom learning and projects with community organizations, students connect law and justice concerns to Detroit's environmental problems. Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 483 and CRJ 583. (AY).

CRJ 484 White Collar Crime 4 Credit Hours

This course reviews the history, categories, and problems related to white-collar crime. The course covers these topics by incorporating both legal and empirical perspectives in the study of white collar crime. In this course, we will focus on the substantive and procedural white collar crime laws ('law on the books') and analyze real white collar crime cases. Simultaneously, we will pay special attention to the dynamic relationship between white collar crime and the American regulatory framework. As a result, we will assess the relationship and differences between various types of white collar crime and the regulatory regimes that oversee the business sector ('law in action'). Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 484 and CRJ 584. (AY).

CRJ 487 Forensic Science Evidence in Criminal Cases 3 Credit Hours

This class is a study of the increasing use of scientific evidence in criminal cases, gathered by crime scene investigators (CSI) and/or later developed in a crime laboratory. After a review of the history and development of forensic scientific evidence, the class will study the standards used by courts to prevent the admission of so-called "junk science" and the emergence of DNA as a new model for forensic science evidence. Several common forms of scientific evidence, beginning with DNA, will be studied, including fingerprints, handwriting, hair, bite marks, ballistics, fire and arson debris, and blood stains. The study also includes the forensic use of social sciences testimony, including the reliability of eyewitness testimony and several forms of abuse "syndrome" testimony. Each of these forms of evidence will be described and then compared to the "junk science" standards and to the most recent information about their reliability. The class will examine the impact of forensic science evidence on jurors and the so-called "CSI Effect". The reaction of courts, attorneys and police to juror expectations for scientific evidence will be reviewed. Finally, the class will review the impact of DNA exonerations and the National Academy of Sciences report on the reliability of forensic science evidence and how judges and appeals courts are responding to those challenges, particularly the current controversies concerning the validity of such evidence. Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 487 and CRJ 587. (W).

CRJ 488 Criminal Procedure 3 Credit Hours

This class is a study of Constitutional law regarding criminal procedure in the United States. Initially the class reviews the federal and state court structure relating to criminal prosecutions and the flow of cases through those systems. The focus is then on the nature of individual rights under the Constitution, the case law, and the concept of the "exclusionary rule." The class then examines specific issues and procedures relating to arrests, searches, confessions and identifications, and analyzes the constitutional requirements for each. (W)

CRJ 490 Topics in Criminal Justice 4 Credit Hours

Examination of problems and issues in selected areas of criminal justice. Title as listed in Schedule of Classes will change according to the content of the course. Students may not receive credit for both CRJ 490 and CRJ 590. (OC).
