

CRIMINOLOGY AND CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Advance your career with a Michigan graduate degree from University of Michigan-Dearborn in the rapidly growing criminal justice profession.

Faculty, who are experts in their field, developed the Master of Science in Criminology and Criminal Justice to prepare students for research, management and policy positions or continuation into a J.D. or Ph.D. program.

This flexible degree program is 30-32 credits and provides a thesis and non-thesis option, while offering traditional, evening and online courses. The program can be completed entirely on campus, entirely online, or through a combination of on-campus and online courses.

Public safety professionals from partnering organizations may qualify for a scholarship valued at 20 percent of tuition and fees through our community service personnel scholarship program.

Students admitted to the Criminology and Criminal Justice graduate program may elect to declare the Criminal Justice Administration Concentration, which was created in collaboration with the Public Administration and Public Policy Program (<https://umdearborn.edu/cas/graduate-programs/programs/master-public-administration-and-policy/>). This concentration is appropriate for individuals who intend to pursue careers primarily in administrative or managerial roles within the fields of courts, law enforcement, and corrections.

Admission Requirements

Admission to the Master's program is at the discretion of the Graduate Program Director in consultation with Graduate Program faculty and the Office of Graduate Studies. Supplemental application materials required for applicants include: official academic transcripts, a personal statement describing academic and career goals, a resume, and two recommendation letters.

- Completion of a Bachelor's degree with at least a 3.0 undergraduate GPA
- Completion of the following courses or equivalent:
 - CRJ 200 Introduction to Criminal Justice
 - CRJ 468 Criminology
 - CRJ 488 Criminal Law & Procedure

Applicants who meet the GPA requirement but lack one or more required courses may be admitted conditionally with the permission of the Program Director. These course deficiencies may be completed concurrently with graduate courses in the program upon Program Director approval.

Community Service Personnel Scholarships

The University of Michigan-Dearborn provides a scholarship valued at 20% of tuition and fees for public safety employees at partnering organizations. The scholarship is available for degree-seeking students and can be used for undergraduate and graduate programs.

Accelerated Program: 4+1

The 4+1 accelerated program option allows current UM-Dearborn undergraduates majoring in Criminology and Criminal Justice or Sociology to complete a Bachelor of Arts in their major field and the Master of Science in Criminology and Criminal Justice in a format that offers substantial savings in both time and money. This is achieved by a double-counting allowance of up to 16 credits worth of graduate level (500-level or above) courses. One additional year of graduate work (15-16 credits) is needed to complete the Master's program, enabling students to earn two degrees in a total of five years.

Participation in the 4+1 program is limited to students who have completed at least 60 credit hours with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or better. Admission to the 4+1 program is at the discretion of the Graduate Program Director and requires an admission interview. The "regular" online graduate application should be completed with a "Yes" response to the 4+1 accelerated program question. Supplemental application materials required for 4+1 applicants include: official academic transcripts, a personal statement describing academic and career goals, a resume, and one recommendation letter—preferably from a Program faculty member.

Students in the 4+1 Program must adhere to UM-Dearborn's Graduate Academic Policies, found here (<https://catalog.umd.umich.edu/academic-policies-graduate/>), with respect to all 500-level courses taken; this includes maintaining a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 (B) or better in their coursework in order to remain in good standing. Failure to do so may result in removal from the 4+1 program.

Courses to choose from in the 4+1 Program are: CRJ 501, CRJ 509, CRJ 515, CRJ 517, CRJ 518, CRJ 519, CRJ 532, CRJ 535, CRJ 546, CRJ 547, CRJ 553, CRJ 560, CRJ 565, CRJ 566, CRJ 568, CRJ 569, CRJ 570, CRJ 572, CRJ 573, CRJ 576, CRJ 580, CRJ 582, CRJ 583, CRJ 584, CRJ 587, CRJ 588, CRJ 590, CRJ 598, CRJ 699, COMP 500, PAPP 502, PAPP 505, PAPP 540, PAPP 561, PAPP 580, PAPP 581, PAPP 582, PAPP 583, SOC 510

CRJ 573 Race, Crime and Justice 4 Credit Hours

This course is an analysis of race and its relation to crime in the criminal justice system. Students will analyze and interpret the perceived connection between race and crime, while exploring the dynamics of race, crime, and justice in the United States. This course is designed to familiarize students with current research and theories of racial discrimination within America's criminal justice system. Students cannot receive credit for both AAAS/CRJ/SOC 473 and CRJ 573. (W, YR).

CRJ 576 Inside Out Prison Exchange 4 Credit Hours

This community-based course, taught in a local correctional facility, brings university students and incarcerated students together to study as peers. Together students explore issues of crime and justice, drawing on one another to create a deeper understanding of how these issues affect our lives as individuals and as a society. The course creates a dynamic partnership between UMD and a correctional facility to allow students to question approaches to issues of crime and justice in order to build a safer and more just society for all. The course encourages outside (UMD) students to contextualize and to think deeply about what they have learned about crime and criminals and to help them pursue the work of creating a restorative criminal justice system; it challenges inside students to place their life experiences into larger social contexts and to rekindle their intellectual self-confidence and interest in further education. (YR).

CRJ 580 Theories of Justice 4 Credit Hours

This course is designed to provide an introduction to basic moral philosophy and social justice, with particular focus on how these issues pertain to the field of criminal justice. It will explore various perspectives of "justice" through readings from classical and contemporary theorists. In addition, students will discuss topics related to political economy, culture and cross-cultural engagement, and critiques and advancements of justice. They will review the limits of the justice system and issues such as globalization, capitalism, and reform. Applied learning will be used to identify, articulate, and defend different ethical positions. (YR).

Prerequisite(s): CRJ 200 and CRJ 468 and CRJ 473 and (SOC 200 or SOC 201)

CRJ 582 Legal & Ethical Argumentation 4 Credit Hours

This course will explore the ethical dilemmas faced by professionals in the legal system. We will pay particular attention to the criminal justice system and to the Rules of Professional Conduct for attorneys. Students read real legal cases and engage in thinking like attorneys to discuss questions like: How should an attorney consider their own ethical beliefs when deciding the appropriate course of action in a case? How should a judge consider their own ethical beliefs when making a juvenile justice decision? How should a police officer, investigator, or lawyer determine the ethical course of action when the law's instructions are ambiguous? Through practical "hands-on" learning, students will practice core skills in legal thinking, like writing briefs, examining the legal reasoning on both sides of a case, and understanding the strengths and weaknesses of each perspective in a case. Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 482 and CRJ 582. (YR).

Restriction(s):

Can enroll if Level is Graduate

CRJ 583 Justice, Crime and Environment 4 Credit Hours

This service-learning course focuses on environmental justice and law. Environmental Justice is defined as the fair treatment of all people with respect to the development, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws. In the classroom, students learn the theory, history, and enforcement of environmental laws and regulations in Detroit, Michigan, and nationwide. In a required civic engagement project, students apply their substantive knowledge to solve local environmental problems. Through classroom learning and projects with community organizations, students connect law and justice concerns to Detroit's environmental problems. Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 483 and CRJ 583. (AY).

CRJ 584 White Collar Crime 4 Credit Hours

This course reviews the history, categories, and problems related to white-collar crime. The course covers these topics by incorporating both legal and empirical perspectives in the study of white collar crime. In this course, we will focus on the substantive and procedural white collar crime laws ("law on the books") and analyze real white collar crime cases. Simultaneously, we will pay special attention to the dynamic relationship between white color crime and the American regulatory framework. As a result, we will assess the relationship and differences between various types of white collar crime and the regulatory regimes that oversee the business sector ("law in action"). Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 484 and CRJ 584. (AY).

CRJ 587 Forensic Science 4 Credit Hours

This course explores the application of the methods and techniques of science to matters of justice and the courts, including: crime scene investigation (CSI), the analysis of evidence, and court testimony. The history of forensic science is explored, and forensic techniques pertaining to common areas such as toxicology, firearms/toolmarks, trace evidence controlled substances, blood pattern analysis, digital evidence are examined. Relevant ethical and scientific controversies are discussed, including issues of bias and wrongful convictions. Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 487 and CRJ 587. (YR).

CRJ 588 Criminal Law & Procedure 4 Credit Hours

A survey of the major legal decisions in the fields of substantive criminal law and criminal procedure. This course gives special attention to the nature of individual rights, and issues & procedures relating to arrests, searches, confessions and identifications under Constitutional case law. Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 488 and CRJ 588. (YR).

Restriction(s):

Can enroll if Level is Graduate

CRJ 590 Topics in Criminal Justice 4 Credit Hours

Examination of problems and issues in selected areas of criminal justice. Title as listed in Schedule of Classes will change according to the content of the course. This course is distinguished from its 400 level counterpart by the requirement of additional readings and research. Students cannot receive credit for both CRJ 490 and CRJ 590. (OC).

Restriction(s):

Can enroll if Class is Graduate

CRJ 598 Directed Studies 1 to 8 Credit Hours

Directed individual study of any subject agreed upon by the student and the instructor. May not duplicate a formal course offering. (OC).

CRJ 699 Criminology & Criminal Justice Thesis 4 Credit Hours

Full Title: Criminology & Criminal Justice Thesis Students electing the Thesis option in the last stage of the MS in Criminology & Criminal Justice program will work under the general supervision of a member of the graduate faculty in the Criminology & Criminal Justice Program but will plan and carry out the work independently. Students should obtain a copy of the thesis requirements from the CASL Office of Graduate Programs or the Program Director before registering for this course. The student will submit the thesis and give an oral presentation to a panel of faculty members when the thesis is completed.

Prerequisite(s): CRJ 518
